Guiding Principles for Providing High-Quality Education in Juvenile Justice Secure Care Settings

<http://www2.ed.gov/policy/gen/guid/correctional-education/guiding-principles.pdf>

In 2014, the ED and the U.S. Department of Justice issued, as part of a Correctional Education Guidance Package, a document describing five guiding principles to promote the provision of high-quality free and appropriate public education in juvenile justice secure care settings. The principles are as follows:

1. Positive Climate.

A safe, healthy, facility-wide climate that prioritizes education; provides the conditions for learning; and encourages the necessary behavioral and social support services that address the individual needs of all youth, including those with disabilities and English learners.

2. Adequate Resources and Comparable Opportunities.

Necessary funding to support educational opportunities for all youth within long-term secure care facilities, including those with disabilities and English learners, comparable to opportunities for peers who are not system involved.

3. Qualified Personnel.

Recruitment, employment, and retention of qualified education staff with skills relevant in juvenile justice settings who can positively impact long-term student outcomes through demonstrated abilities to create and sustain effective teaching and learning environments.

4. Connected Rigorous and Relevant Curricula.

Rigorous and relevant curricula aligned with State academic and career and technical education standards that utilize instructional methods, tools, materials and practices that promote college and career readiness.

5. Formal Transition Process and Procedures.

Formal processes and procedures through statutes, memorandum of understanding and practices that ensure successful navigation across child-serving systems and smooth reentry into communities.

- Support families in planning for the future
- Provide training sessions on how to work effectively with individuals with autism and related disabilities
- Provide consultation to caregivers and professionals on how best to work with an individual with a disability, in order to:
 - Teach new skills
 - Understand and resolve challenging behavior
 - Include individuals with autism and related disabilities in typical school and community settings
 - Develop meaningful communication skills
 - Help individuals with autism and related disabilities become more socially competent members of society

Youth Investment Award

The Youth Investment Award is available through the Florida Juvenile Justice Foundation and can help youth served by DJJ pay for tuition, school supplies, transportation and other things needed to help achieve academic and career goals. Youth Investment Application can be found at <http://www.djj.state.fl.us/docs/foundation-docs/2014-youth-investment-award-application.pdf?sfvrsn=4>

A Brief Introduction to NDTAC

<http://www.neglected-delinquent.org/>

NDTAC serves as a national resource center to provide assistance to States, schools, communities and parents seeking information on the education of children and youth who are considered neglected, delinquent, or at-risk. The education of youth involved in the juvenile justice system is a primary focus of NDTAC. NDTAC works with State and local administrators of programs operated under Title 1, Part D of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA), as well as services providers, to:

- Ensure youth who are neglected or

The Coalition for Juvenile Justice (CJJ) Recorded Webinar: Youth with Intellectual and Development Disabilities in Juvenile Justice

<http://juvjustice.org/webinars-and-trainings/resources>

This archived webinar provides an overview of the issues that youth with intellectual and developmental disabilities experience in the juvenile justice system. Participants unpack how intellectual and developmental disabilities can affect behavior, how those behaviors are perceived, and how such perceptions can increase risk for system involvement. The webinar introduces strategies for communities to better identify disabilities. It also focuses on how to meet the needs of this specific population within the system, from diversion, to improving conditions within confinement, and preparing them for success upon release.

- Ensure youth who are neglected or delinquent have the opportunity to meet the same challenging state academic standards that all children are expected to meet;
- Improve educational services for children and youths who are neglected, delinquent or at risk of involvement with the juvenile justice system;
- Provide children and youth who are neglected or delinquent with the services needed to make a successful transition from institutions to schools and/or employment;
- Prevent youth who are at risk of academic failure from dropping out of school; and
- Provide children and youth who have dropped out of school or who are returning to school after residing in an institution, with a support system to ensure their continued education.
